

Flawless Dining Service Dining Table Service Options for Professionals Parents and College and University Students Dining Service Flawlessly Provided

Welcome to a world of Flawless Dining Service Dining Etiquette for College and University Students Dining Service Flawlessly Provided: a world where everything is done in consideration of someone else. Discover fun ways to serve your table. This book was written for two reasons. 1. The rule has always been, more than, “Serve from the left (leaving.)” and “Remove from the right (retrieving.)” 2. Saying Thank You is done in two parts. Part I is about attendance: meeting expectations and verbal acknowledgment: verbally saying, “Thank you.” Part II is about written acknowledgment and reciprocity: This book is about what is to be done during your event. Best wishes with it. This book can have holes punched in it and be placed in a binder. You can take it apart and make your own signature dining service book. Serving is to be done with flair consideration and distinction. People are to be invited to an event to share drink, atmosphere, food, and honor, and to enjoy each is why a person is to accept an invitation. Were it not for these expectations, we would need larger battlefields. Thank you for your indulgence. This way please.
